NIGHT SCHOOL OPENS. One Hundred Thirty-five Enrolled—Four Teachers Kept Busy.

The night school for the town of Windham was opened in the Nachauz school building Monday evening with an enrollment of 135 pupils, with every prospect that more will be enrolled before many more sessions of the school are held. Approximately one-half of those attending the opening session Monday evening also attended the class last year.

The teachers for the school are Miss Gladys Lathrop, beginners' class; Miss Frances O'Neill, intermediate grade; Mrs. J. L. Sullivan, grammar grade; Miss Genevieve Royce, orthography and copywriting. This class numbers 27 and another teacher will be assigned to assist Miss Royce. The question of securing typewriters is a problem that will have to be settled and was left with a member of the high school committee.

Among the number enrolled Monday the French-Canadians led with 60; the remainder comprised Syrians, Italians, Greeks, Swedes, Poles, Russians and Americans. The night school committee, Curtis Dean, Mrs. K. J. Spaulding and James P. Twomey with L. B. Lincoln, secretary of the town school committee together with President J. L. Harrold were present at the opening and expressed themselves as well pleased at the fine prospects for a most successful school.

BIGAMIST FORGOTTEN. Court Ready to Try Charles Cochorian of Putnam, Only to Learn That He Was Still in Jail.

An unusual event occurred in superior court here Tuesday morning when Judge Edwin B. Gager was obliged to adjourn court because of the absence of Charles Cochorian of Putnam, who had been brought over from the county jail to stand trial. The discovery of the absence of the accused was made by Attorney Charles L. Torrey, counsel for the defendant, just before the opening of court. He made inquiry from Sheriff P. E. Sibley relative to Cochorian and learned that he was entirely overlooked.

It was a rather expensive oversight as the court with all its attaches, including the state's attorney, counsel for the defense, twenty-four jurymen from all over the county as well as a large number of witnesses were on hand to participate in the trial of the case.

Sheriff Sibley telephoned to the jail to have Jailer Gager bring the prisoner over but to complicate matters that official had gone on an automobile ride to Danielson and there was no one to bring Cochorian over to this city.

At 11 o'clock court was finally opened and the Cochorian case was continued until next Tuesday so that the accused may have a week to bring the prisoner to his trial in this city.

The judge came all the way from Derby for practically nothing. Fine of $5 For Augustus Racine, Jr. Augustus Racine, Jr., of Woodstock, was on hand and as his case was to have followed that of Cochorian, it was disposed of as a matter of course but they were nolle by the state's attorney. The accused with his father participated in the abduction of the father's children from one Honkiss of Woodstock who had the custody of them. Racine's father and mother were divorced and the mother had been given charge of the children. She later deserted them and the town of Woodstock was to care for them. They were taken over the line into Massachusetts and are now living there with their father. A fine of $5 and costs was imposed by Judge Gager.

A number of jurymen who asked to be excused from duty for good cause were excused by Judge Gager. The excused were: Alne Beaudreault and Joseph P. Gagne of Putnam; John W. Jones of Putnam; Henry L. Burgess of Killingly; John Chapman of Putnam; Edward P. Keegan and Dexter Elliott of Thompson.

Today. (Court was then adjourned until this Wednesday) morning when civil business will commence. The jurymen who reported to court this morning ready to be selected for the hearing of evidence and the passing of judgment are: Windham—Napoleon G. Gager, Jr., Henry S. Harve, Arthur E. Stiles, and Edwin B. Lathan; Ashford—Fred M. Wright; Brooklyn—Joseph B. Statton; Killingly—John W. Jones; Chaplin—Isaiah C. Stevens; Hampton—Herman A. Allen, Jerome M. Woodcock; Putnam—John W. Jones, Jr.; Windham—Sterling L. Edgar; Willcox—Woodstock—F. Olin Chaffee.

The train was taken back to the station and brought to this city and hurried to St. Joseph's hospital in the ambulance that was in waiting at the station. She died soon after reaching the hospital where she was attended by Dr. R. Parkson. As a result of her fall she sustained a fractured skull. Dr. L. L. Mason.

JUST READY TO DROP. When you are "just ready to drop," when your feet feel that you can hardly drag yourself about—and because you have not slept well, you get up as tired-out next morning as when you went to bed, then you need help right away.

Miss Lea Dumas writes from Malton, N. Y. "I was in a bad run-down condition for several weeks but two bottles of Vinol put me on my feet again and made me strong and well. Vinol has done more good than all the other medicines I have ever used."

If the careworn, haggard men and women, the pale, sickly children and feeble old folks around here would follow Miss Dumas' example, they too would soon be able to say that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron remedy, had built them up and made them strong.

It is a wonderfully strengthening and invigorating body-builder, and we sell it under an iron-clad guarantee of satisfaction. You get your money back if Vinol does not help you. Frowdy's Pharmacy, G. C. Engler, Norwich, Conn.

May Not Show Profit. While the annual reports of the county commissioners will not be issued until some time next month, it is probable that the usual substantial profit will not be shown this year, as has been true for the last several years. This fact will not be due, however, to any lack of effort on the part of the commissioners and other county officials to make a showing equally as good as that of the past, for they have expended as much time, forethought and energy as ever in increased expenditures and decreased receipts are a combination that the officials have been forced to face and such a one as will be responsible for such shrinkage from the past standard as may be shown.

FINED FOR ASSAULT. Judge Thought Two Young Men Had Squatted at the Same Girl. Armand Patreau, who punched Charles King and blackened his eye Saturday night, was before Deputy Judge James N. Tucker in the town court Tuesday morning. After hearing the evidence, Judge Tucker imposed a fine of $15 and costs, amounting to $23.65. The sum was paid and Patreau was discharged from court.

Patreau's and King's testimony varied as to just what preceded King's receiving punishment. Patreau said he had absolutely no conversation with Patreau before he was struck, while Patreau said that King followed him as he was on his way home and for that reason he punished him. The evidence that King was escorting home from a dance Patreau's girl friend, who was to spend the night at King's home and as the guest of his sister, was before the court before the case was made, was not disputed by either of the principals in court. Patreau, who was represented by Attorney E. G. Gaty, admitted having had a drink of whiskey previous to the affair with King. Patreau is 19 years old.

Tucker said it looked to him as if the whole cause of the trouble was the young man's drinking. "I will fine you $15 and costs, but with the understanding that if you come before me again on a like charge I will sentence you to serve six months."

Patreau said he would not be present in court again and seemed repentant.
